TO SHOOT UNDER WATER. Something New and Important in Naval Warfare. NEW HAVEN, Feb. 23.—C. S. Bushnell of this city, Vice-President of the Ericsson Coast Defense Company, which has the old Destroyer taken out of Brooklyn for repairs says: "We are fitting up the vessel for the purpose of test-ing a gun that will fire under water. Now, with the heavy net-tings which the big war vessels have for the protection of themselves against torpedoes, the ordinary projectiles are almost useless. But with the gun that is to be tested on the Destroyer we can make projectiles penetrate any of the nettings that are in use. "We are to use a 16-inch gun. That which we are to experiment with is being constructed, and is about half done. It is to be about thirty five feet in length. The projectile is to be twenty-five long, THIS FIRST-CLASS FAMILY Hotel (situate in the most pleasant part of the City) continues to offer the comforts of a home to ty-five pounds of powder will be used. The shell will c ntain from 300 to 400 pounds of nitro-glyce-afloat if struck right. "The muzzle of the gun will protrude ten feet under water, and the projectile will be carried from 750 to 1,000 feet beyond the muzzle of the gun before firing. We intend to try the gun for the first time at Newport next July, having obtained from Congress an appropriation for making the tests.

"With a few such vessels as the Destroyer will be when equipped with our gun, the armed fleets of the world could be swept out of existence. I believe this invention will revolutionize the naval gunnery throughout the world. One of our shells can be sent right through the netting and into the side of a vessel where a torpedo could not penetrate.

"For the price that one of our highing will costant the best have afloat."
